30,000 IN OHIO MINES IDLE AS PACT EXPIRES

Seventy Per Cent of Nation's Soft Coal Industry Closed Down

WORKERS ASKING NEW AGREEMENT

Labor Secretary Estimates Daily Pay Roll Los of $1,500,000

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, April 3.—Approximately 30,000 Ohio soft coal miners were idle today, awaiting a new wage and hour agreement to replace a contract which expired Friday night.

T. F. Silvey, secretary of the Ohio Congress of Industrial Organizations, said the miners represented

Three coal mines at West Point, south of Lisbon, were closed today following expiration of the soft coal contract. They include the mines of the Power Point Coal Co., the Madison Coal Co., and the Hart Coal Co.

ed 258 local unions in 26 eastern and southeastern counties. An estimated 2,500 non-union miners were not affected by the shutdown, Silvey said.

Negotiations Futile
NEW YORK, April 3.—Seventy per cent of the nation's soft coal industry shut down today as more than 300,000 miners in the Appalachian area remained away from work pending completion of negotiations for a new contract.

Weekend attempts by a subcommittee of miners and operators to reach a new agreement to replace the old two-year contract that expired at midnight Friday were futile despite an urgent appeal by Secretary of Labor Perkins.

The work stoppage followed automatically under the traditional rule of the United Mine Workers—"no contract, no work."

The 3,000-odd locals of the union were instructed to pull out all of the 338,000 miners affected except for skeleton crews totaling 20,000 men. The daily pay roll loss was estimated by Secretary Perkins at $1,500,000.

The shutdown affected the bituminous industry in Pennsylvania.

CHURCH "SYMBOL OF OUR FAITH"

Buildings' Part In Worship Is Stressed By Dr. Kelso

An overflow crowd attended the dedication service for the new First Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

Rev. Raymond D. Walter, pastor, estimated that 700 persons participated in the service, which replaced the regular morning worship rites. The auditorium of the beautiful colonial-styled building was filled to capacity. Additional members of the congregation were seated in the chapel which adjoins the auditorium.

Address System Used
A public address system made it possible for persons seated in the chapel to hear the services in the auditorium. Visitors were present from a number of nearby cities.

Dr. James A. Kelso, Ph. D., D. D., L.L.D., president of the Western Theological seminary at Pittsburgh, delivered the dedicatory address, following the rite of dedication and the prayer of dedication in which the pastor and congregation participated.

Using as his theme, "The Church Building, the Symbol of Christian Faith," Dr. Kelso traced the history of construction of church buildings, pointing out "our buildings are a symbol of our faith."

He spoke of the colonial architecture of the new Presbyterian building, citing this as being distinctly American in its simplicity.

Faith in the Book
Discussing the auditorium of the new building, Dr. Kelso said the lecture on which the Bible rests expresses faith in the open book, the pulpit on the other side, of the church expresses the prophetic ministry of the church, and the altar, adorned with a cross, stands for Christ's sacrificial death and resurrection.

In addition to Dr. Kelso, Rev. Zoltan Irshay, director of the Campbell Neighborhood house, supported by the Mahoning Presbytery of which the Salem church is a part, spoke briefly.

The choir of the church, appearing for the first time in new vestments, sang the anthem, "Sanctus," by Gounod.

Youngstown Judge Sentences Bonham

Robert Bonham of Youngstown, formerly of Lisbon, alleged leader of a gang of Lisbon youths which staged robberies in the district until their capture by Salem state highway patrolmen two months ago, has been sentenced to three 10-to-25-year terms in prison.

This was announced today by Corp. W. E. Arey, head of the patrol station, who said that Bonham will serve his first term in the Mansfield reformatory and the other terms at Ohio State penitentiary, the sentences to run consecutively.

Francis Earl Ruhl and Charles McGaughey of Lisbon were placed on probation for five years by Judge Lyons at Youngstown, where the trio was arraigned. All pleaded guilty to charges of armed robbery.

Grangers to Meet
Members of Salem grange will present the program at a meeting of Perry grange at the latter's hall Wednesday night.

Mrs. Willis Zimmerman, lecturer of Salem grange, will be in charge of the program.

Recorder Wilson Completes Staff

LISBON, April 3.—Richard O. Wilson, county recorder, today announced the appointment of Miss Nathalie Stewart of East Palestine as a stenographer, replacing Miss Margaret Becker of Salem.

Miss Becker, Democrat, was the last to be replaced, Wilson said. The recorder's office now employs Ronald Mackall of Middleton township, Mrs. Frances Morton of Wellsville, Miss Dorothy Schlander of East Liverpool, Miss Clara Mae Rich of Salem, and Miss Stewart, all Republicans.

TORSO SLAYER FEARED AGAIN

Cleveland Workmen Find Woman's Foot In Kingsbury Run

CLEVELAND, April 3.—Cleveland feared today its blood-crazed torso slayer had struck again.

Detective Peter Mervio, in charge of the torso murder investigations, planned a search of the Kingsbury run district where two workmen yesterday found a woman's right foot, "sawed off" at the ankle.

The Kingsbury district, an industrial area, has yielded parts of four bodies in the last four years. Eight other mutilated bodies have been found within a five-mile radius.

Mervio and Dr. Samuel R. Gerber, Cuyahoga county coroner, refused definite comment on the possibility that the murderer had taken a 13th life.

Well Preserved
Dr. Gerber said it would take him "at least a week" to ascertain if the foot were embalmed. He declared the foot was in a good state of preservation, either because it had been put there recently or because it had been frozen.

The workers discovered the foot in an iron barrel on a trash dump. The bodies and heads of Edward Andrassy, 28, and an unidentified man were found in Kingsbury run creek Sept. 23, 1935.

The next year, four bodies were found. There were three in 1937 and three more last year. Most recent discovery came Aug. 16, 1938, when the cut-up bodies of a middle-aged man and a woman were found on a lake front dump.

Of the 12 victims, seven have been men. Police have questioned more than 3,000 persons.

Chagrin Falls Man Hurt In Accident

Lloyd Andrees, 37, of Chagrin Falls, escaped with an injury to his head and left shoulder when his car skidded on the Lisbon road, three miles south of Salem, at 7:20 p. m. Saturday and overturned.

The car was demolished, state highway patrolmen said. Andrees was treated at Salem City hospital and then discharged.

No one was injured when cars driven by Louis McCoy, 35, and George Monte, 59, both of Alliance, sideswiped on Route 62 at Westville at 8:55 p. m. Sunday.

Red Cross Course Will Open Tuesday
The first session of a Red Cross first aid course, for men, will be held from 6 to 8 p. m. Tuesday in the High school building. Meetings will be held every Tuesday and Thursday thereafter.

Organization of a women's first aid class is planned later.

Chamberlain Defies Hitler In Pledge of Aid to Other Nations Menaced by Nazis

Britain Ready to Make Rearmament Loan to Roumania; Deny German Charges of Plan To Encircle the Reich

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, April 3.—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the house of commons today that the Anglo-French pledge of aid for Poland would be followed by similar commitments to other countries which stand in the way of any attempt by Germany to dominate Europe.

Still for Peace
"I am no more a man of war today than I was in September,"

Chamberlain declared. "I have no intention and no desire to treat the German people otherwise than I would have our own people treated here."

He said Britain was concerned "to preserve not only the independence of this country but of all states which might be threatened by aggression."

Chamberlain's statement came after these developments:

1. R. A. Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, indicated Britain was prepared to make a rearmament loan to Roumania;

2. Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax told the house of lords that nothing could be further from the truth than German charges that Britain and France were trying to encircle the reich;

3. Col Joseph Beck, Polish foreign minister, arrived in London for vital consultations.

4. Chamberlain rejected a request for compulsory registration of British manpower—a step toward conscription which he said would interfere with the drive for recruits for an enlarged territorial army.

World Shocked
Chamberlain declared that "public opinion throughout the world has been profoundly shocked and alarmed... This country is united from end to end in the conviction that we must make our position clear and unmistakable whatever the result."

"There is not any threat to Germany so long as Germany will be a good neighbor."

Joseph P. Kennedy, United States ambassador, sat in the distinguished visitors' gallery during the commons session.

Chamberlain said: "We welcome the cooperation of any country whatever its internal system of government, not in aggression but in resistance to aggression."

This was taken as a direct invitation to Soviet Russia to join in a Europe-wide blockade against expanding Nazi Germany.

Actors Visit Here Enroute To Detroit
Albert Allen, formerly of Salem, and Wade Peters of Hollywood, Calif., are the guests this week of the former's grandmother, Mrs. Alice Allen Mattix, on N. Lincoln ave.

Peters is the son of Rollo Peters, New York actor, and both men are members of the cast of Walter Huston's play, "Knickerbocker Holiday," which reopens in Detroit next Monday following a week's layoff. The play has been running in New York all winter and at present the company is on tour.

After playing principal cities in the west, the play will open at the San Francisco world's fair.

FDR Settles Down To Real Vacation
WARM SPRINGS, Ga., April 3.—President Roosevelt settled down to vacation routine on the fourth day of his stay here today, but continued his study of the international situation and important legislation awaiting executive action.

Bright Outlook Is Reported For Ohio College Graduates

Chemists, Metallurgists and Students In Business Field Will Find Most Opportunities

COLUMBUS, April 3.—The outlook was bright today for Ohio's many thousands college graduates who hope to exchange their sheepskins for jobs in June.

A survey of the state's leading universities indicated that most of this year's crop of graduates would find positions in business, industry and the professions without serious difficulty.

However, university personnel directors were agreed that there would be some disappointments, particularly among students who have equipped themselves to enter industrial production fields.

Need Chemical Engineers
Chemists, metallurgists, accountants and salesmen were most in demand. Nearly all universities reported an acute shortage of chemical engineers. Positions were plentiful for women with business administration diplomas.

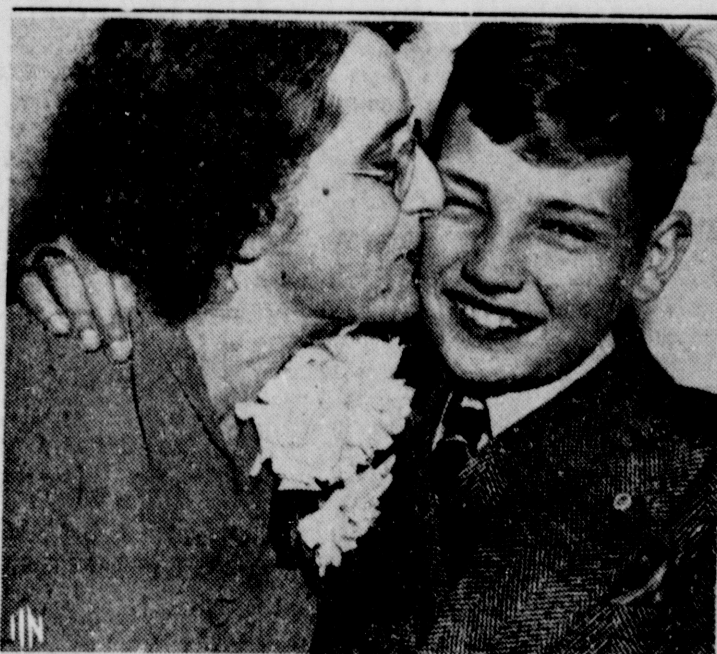

John F. Mee, placement manager for the Ohio State university College of Commerce and Administration, said he expected more than 93 per cent of the 1939 class to be placed in responsible positions by the end of summer. The best opportunities for college trained workers were in the fields of accounting, sales, finance and credit, he added.

Demand for agricultural college graduates in government service has provided plenty of jobs for vocational home economics, vocational agriculture and dairy technology graduates. True G. Watson of the Ohio State university College of Agriculture declared.

Miami university predicted that architects and engineers probably would find jobs but their salaries would be "very low" with comparison to business graduates.

Engineering Uncertain
The current international turmoil was cited as a factor creating

All kites were home-made and had to fly in order to be eligible.

POLICE SHAKEUP IS THREATENED

East Liverpool Mayor Orders "Cleanup" In Department

EAST LIVERPOOL, April 3.—Mayor Lee Copenhaver ordered a "cleanup" in the police force here today, following a meeting with members of the department Sunday afternoon.

"Clean up in 15 days or face dismissals," he told the officers. Charges aired at yesterday's session included "lack of respect for superior officers, lack of sternness on the part of the captain and the chief and laxity on the part of the patrolmen in general."

The "cleanup" was precipitated when several merchants protested over the failure of police to report on a call for a half-hour several days ago.

According to the mayor, the desk sergeant at police headquarters received a call from a merchant who had been the victim of a shop-lifter. The desk sergeant was reported to have told the merchant he was the only one at the station and couldn't come himself. The call was taken care of a half-hour later.

Chooses Boulevard For Forced Landing
DENVER, April 3.—"An airplane is down in the middle of the street," alarmed residents telephoned police.

Five squads of police rushed to Colorado boulevard and 35th st. only to find William Paddock of Denver blowing earnestly into the fuel line of his single-seat monoplane, which he had landed safely on the boulevard.

A couple of police-supervised puffs and out came that obstruction.

The patrolmen cleared a lane through several hundred curious persons along the boulevard and Paddock took off.

Springs Are Menace To Rail Watchman
BELOIT, April 3.—William St. John, crossing watchman here, narrowly escaped injury early Saturday morning when a coil spring and bolt, weighing 74 pounds, flew off a passing Pennsylvania passenger engine, struck a tie and bounded 200 feet in the air, falling almost at his feet.

The same type of spring came off another train several weeks ago and shattered a window in the railroad station at Sebring.

CHEMISTS TEST FOOD AS CURE

Diet Seen Possible As Remedy For One Type Of Half-Wits

BALTIMORE, April 3.—Chemists will try food as a remedy for a numerous class of half-wits—to see whether food can make better brains.

This unprecedented form of attack on mental troubles was described to the American Chemical society here today by Dr. Richard J. Block and Dr. George A. Jervis of the New York State Psychiatric institute and hospital.

The inability to be treated with diet is a new type discovered in 1934 by Dr. A. Folling of Oslo, Norway. It has since been recognized as world-wide. Today's report says it attacks one person out of every 25,000.

Sign of Imbecility
The unmistakable sign of these imbeciles is excretion of phenylpyruvic acid. This is a known by-product of one of the essential chemicals of human growth.

Their brains fail to develop, or else are damaged so badly that the scientific name of the disease means "few brains." The trouble, Dr. Block said, is hereditary, like albinism. The signs point to failure of the body to metabolize the growth acid properly as the main cause.

Diet experiments showed that feeding rich proteins to human beings would increase the amount of the growth amine in the body.

The situation of the half-wits, the report declared may be like that of diabetics, unable to use sugar. They excrete this sugar, much as the acid is excreted by the half-wits.

In diabetes a diet of low sugar helps sometimes. The psychiatrists propose to work out diets low in the growth of amine, on the same principle.

1,000 Maidens Will Ride On 1,000 Mules
COLUMBIA, Tenn., April 3.—A thousand girls come to town today—to ride a thousand mules.

And countless thousands of other persons poured into this small middle Tennessee city, known far and wide as the world's largest street mule market.

For today is "mule day" and the stubborn but sturdy hybrid of the jack and the mare rightfully took his place of honor while lovers of fine livestock and fun-seekers swarmed this center to share in what has become an annual festival of huge proportions.

The girls, attired in brilliant, flashing costumes, arrived in Columbia early, ready to take their place in the featured attraction of the gala occasion—the four-mile muleless parade.

For one day, the automobile was taboo. None was allowed in the huge parade as it wound its way past colonial homes, Columbia's business houses and the picturesque town square.

ABANDON ATTEMPT AT SAFE

Burglars Leave Behind $300 or More In Strong Box

Burglars, believed to be professional safe-crackers, escaped with at least $600 in cash but failed to open a safe containing more than $300 at the Eagles club on E. State st., early this morning.

The burglary was discovered at 4 a. m. by Safety Director C. E. Donahay, who also is merchant policeman, while making his rounds.

Donahay discovered the rear door of the club house open and the lock hammered off.

The intruders had broken open this door, which led to the basement furnace room, broke the lock from a second door leading into the barroom and eventually reached the office of Secretary F. R. Mathews, on the floor above, where they broke in a third door.

No fingerprints could be found by police, who investigated, and Chief Ralph Stoffer said he believed the burglars wore canvas gloves.

Before going upstairs to the secretary's office, the intruders ransacked the barroom to locate money boxes of the three bartenders, which had been carefully hidden. The boxes contained a total of $600, in addition to some checks, it was reported by James Groner, a trustee of the lodge, and Secretary Mathews.

While downstairs the burglars also took about 15 quarts of whiskey. After gaining access to the office of the secretary, the thugs went to work on the safe.

Using what police said was nitroglycerin, the burglars knocked off the combination of the safe in a first attempt. However, the safe failed to open. The authorities said the burglars failed to pack the charge well enough.

Apparently, the men were frightened away as they prepared for a second try, because police found everything set for another attempt. A heavy metal box-opener, probably used in prying open the doors, was left behind.

Safe Expert Called
Lodge officials today were cautious while around the safe. Police believe a charge of nitroglycerin is in the safe because the hole which the burglars drilled in the door is sealed with soap.

An expert from a Canton safe company was called to determine how to proceed in opening the safe.

Police believe the safe-crackers were setting off the charges by battery current. The safe combination and door handle, which was first blown, was wrapped with copper wire.

The burglars overlooked a small safe in an ante room to the bar downstairs. About $20 was in it.

After discovering the breaking and entering, Donahay called Patrolmen George Reash and James Hasey from the police station and James Groner, who was on duty at the fire station.

CHICAGO, April 3.—George F. Harding, 70, Republican national committeeman from Illinois, died yesterday at his home following a long illness.

He began his political career in 1903 as a Chicago alderman.

He defeated Frank L. Smith in a contest for Republican national committeeman in 1936.

GERMANY IN THE DARK

While an international radio audience was conjecturing as to the reasons for termination of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's Saturday broadcast a few seconds after it had begun, there was opportunity for making a neglected comparison between the uses of modern communication in free and authoritarian states.

Germans, for instance, are not permitted the privilege of listening freely to addresses made by the heads of the British and French governments. Nor are they permitted the privilege of reading transcripts of such speeches in the press. On some occasions they do not even know what their own leaders have said.

Thus, when Chancellor Hitler says Germany will defend itself against Great Britain, the theme of his speech on Saturday, his countrymen have no way of knowing why the British are preparing to risk war. They are encouraged to believe their own government is unassailably right and that all governments opposing Nazi policies are entirely wrong.

In Great Britain, in France and certainly in the United States, which have access to both sides of the question, it is popularly realized that Germany has valid points in its argument. If these countries could be sure Germans were equally informed as to the valid points in opposing arguments, European war would not be so imminent.

It is as though popular opinion in authoritarian states still were subject to the restrictions on communications which existed a century ago, except for purposes of domestic propaganda—a dangerous condition indeed when momentous decisions are being made hour by hour—when bombers can begin to destroy lives in another country a few hours at the most after diplomacy has been abandoned for war.

RESOLVING A DOUBT

The "populace" cheered Franco's troops. The "people of Madrid" danced in the streets. "Inhabitants" of the city welcomed the victorious troops with open arms. Statements like these occurred frequently in dispatches describing the end of the Spanish war.

Correspondents, writing hastily amid the excitement of a stirring scene, cannot be expected to qualify their words closely. Yet those who read them must be permitted a doubt. The "people of Madrid" is a suspiciously inclusive phrase.

There must have been many residents of the metropolis who did not cheer or dance; there must have been "people" who could not forget air raids and the cruel slaughter of women and children. If the "loyalists" had won and marched into Burgos, surely their brutalities would have been remembered. One thinks of Hitler being hailed in Vienna and of residents of Prague fluttering swastikas, but thinks also of the ones who helled with a sob in their throats.

Much has been claimed recently of the dignity of man to refute the dictatorial contention that the political authority of the moment takes precedence over individual principles. Resolving a doubt which properly exists in the United States, where minorities retain guaranteed rights in the face of defeat by majorities, no American can close the book on the Spanish war with the assumption all was forgiven and forgotten the instant the stronger power gained the right to rule.

Whatever dignity there may be in men challenges the assumption that dignity automatically disappears under totalitarian authority.

THAT VERNAL FEELING

Even denizens of the outdoors who can take frost-bite and like it owe a tolerant grin to the thin-skinned majority when warm weather turns the north temperate zone inside out.

Doors burst open as children gaily ignore the winter-long admonition not to go out without their wraps. Unstained windows are left raised long after the bedrooms have been vacated. There are innumerable tours of outdoor inspection, all delightfully extemporaneous.

It's not as though humanity had been released from prison, but more like the end of a period of parole during which mankind had been under the unrelenting supervision of a stern climate. There have been numberless attempts to say what it is about spring that makes it a seasonal high spot, but mostly it's connected with the overdue privilege of being outside without wishing to be inside.

THE USUAL OUTCOME

Franklin D. Roosevelt has no lack of sympathy in his family predicament. It's one of those stock situations.

Father rears large family, little suspecting that as it grows up he will become its chief problem.

When the situation's built up for the stage of the movies, they let the poor fellow stand just so much from his offspring, then he steps in to take control of his own affairs in time for the fadeout.

With due respect to Son Elliott and Son in Law John, who are trying to decide whether pater should stick around after 1940—and not agreeing—the audience knows that when the time comes they won't even be consulted.

Counting the Hines verdict, students of boxing form think Tammany has lost enough fights to be ready for Tony Galento.

If you would make a habit of failing, first learn to believe that you would have succeeded except for fateful luck.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, April 4

ON THIS day elders, superiors and those in places of authority seem to figure adversely, according to the lunar transits. There are signs of opposition and methods intended to thwart and delay. They will make matters difficult and unhappy, perhaps with hints of litigation because of misconstrued speech or writings. However, patience and tactful policies may overcome such obstacles or hostilities, and add to the social gratification as well.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of very definite obstructions, delays or other frustrating circumstances. These may come from elders, superiors, old institutions or those in power. Persistent and patient efforts, with possibly strategy or diplomacy, may heal misunderstanding or breaches and possibly litigation. Compromise and policy may happily adjust matters and bring some social gratifications.

A child born on this day may be serious, sensitive, critical and stubborn, inciting opposition and hostility. However, it may have some inclinations to use diplomacy and strategem when needed. It might use these qualities in a judicial career.

A LENTEN THOUGHT

By S. TALMAGE MAGANN,

President, Salem Ministerial Association,
COURAGE WITH CONVICTIONS

Read Mark 11:15-18
Jesus considered the Temple at Jerusalem a very sacred place. When He visited it on Monday of holy week, He saw a situation so contrary to the ideal that His righteous indignation broke out in a rousing stormy protest.

He cast out the buyers and sellers, and overthrew the tables of the money changers, and stopped the carrying of things through the temple. Then He explained the reason for His actions in saying, "Is it not written My house shall be called a house of prayer for all nations? But ye have made it a den of robbers."

Jesus had definite convictions about the Temple and the way men should act while there. He knew what God wanted them to do, and as a representative of God, He did not hesitate to tell them about their sins. He had the courage to make a stormy protest against that which He knew was wrong.

We could have a different nation and a different world if Christians everywhere had the courage to make stormy protests against the wholesale violations of the laws of God and Man.

A display of courage is frequently very dangerous. It was one of the things that caused Jesus to lose his life. However, His courageous sacrifice made it possible for God to realize His plan of salvation.

Included in God's plan for Salvation are plans for the life more abundant. Many of them have never been realized in the world at large, because some of us Christians have been rather careless in cultivating the courage of our convictions.

A consistent Christian practice of the presence of God gives one a high moral courage, which can look danger in the face without undue disturbance or dismay.

Prayer: Almighty and merciful God, we thank Thee for the truth that sets us free. Give us more courage for our convictions that we may always know and do Thy will. Amen.

French Islands Taken by Japan

Education For Prospective
Father Now Made Available

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Times are changing! The new social order is thinking of everyone. At last they have some propaganda for that lowest of human animals, the prospective father.

The Maternity Medical Center, 1 East 57th Street, New York, is conducting a course, and the only requirement for entrance is that the applicant be a prospective father. They have also issued two pamphlets, "Syllabus—classes for prospective fathers," (15 cents), and "A Talk for Prospective Fathers," (10 cents).

In the old days everybody made the prospective father feel as if he were a criminal of the deepest dye; all the old ladies, not only long before but particularly during the event, cast baleful glances at him and sometimes even remarked that he had ought to be ashamed of himself. Only his wife seemed to feel that he was all right. When he had been a father six or seven times, of course, he got over his inferiority complex and stood his ground, but the first time he just lay down and took it.

The belief that maternity is the concern of the woman folk has created havoc in many homes. At no time in her life does a woman more need the understanding help of her husband. She may not feel well. She may be frightened. She may be excited, irritable or emotional. She may be too casual about her needs. What a feeling of security she would have if her husband took the lead in providing the care that is needed to make maternity as comfortable and safe as it can be.

The course begins with a few lectures on the physiology of reproduction, the beginning of life, the anatomy of the organs, and the stages of labor, the coming in of the milk and the puerperium. With this knowledge and an understanding of some of the complications, such as vomiting, the father is in a better than sympathetic mood because it is an understanding mood.

What Doctor Will Do
Then there's a lecture on what a good doctor will do, when called, as he should be, early in the case. He will make a complete examination of the prospective mother from head to foot, also taking blood pressure, urinalysis, weight and pelvic measurements.

Then there is advice about making plans early for adequate care—a good hospital or adequate provision in the home.

In the next few lessons the father is given practical demonstrations in how to bathe, feed, diaper (I've often wondered about that myself) and "bubble" the baby, using "Junior," the rubber doll, as a model; in how to make attractive nursery furniture on a budget, and many other useful matters.

Many prospective fathers must have felt as hopeless as Dr. Johnson when Boswell asked him what he would do if he were shut up in a tower with a new-born baby. This course should give them courage.

Is there such a course organized in your town? There should be.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
D. H. M.: "I have heard that coconuts is bad for the heart. I make it often as it is a change from milk. Is it true that it hurts the heart?"

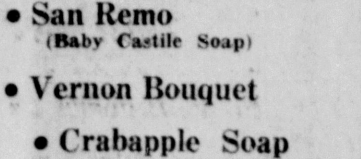

Answer: No, on the contrary, for people of middle age it is good for the heart.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendingning can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendingning, 235 W. 45th St., New York City. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Femine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

KIT CARSON—Avenger!

by EVELYN WELLS

CHAPTER XVIII

They were entering level prairie land, Fremont and his men, led by Kit Carson. Behind lay Missouri—the frontier. Ahead, level as tide water, the great flat interior of unknown America. Fremont was to explore.

Kit turned easily in his saddle. "There it is, Lieutenant. Level as your hand. You'll find it all like this, pretty much, all the way to the Rockies."

He was puzzled by Fremont's look—afraid, like a man seeing visions.

Kit rode nearer so the lads should not hear.

"This is Pawnee country and they're bad medicine. At least ten thousand of 'em scattered along the Platte, and always on the war path. Main village is about seventy-five miles ahead. Guess I'll ride on a few miles and do some scouting."

He dashed over the plain, sitting like a Comanche in his light plainsman's saddle. Fremont's sharp eyes followed him approvingly. Fremont was not unaware of his own fine appearance, as in blue and gold uniform he sat his splendid horse, Proveau. But the little figure in buckskin with flying, tawny hair stirred him to generous admiration.

"What a picture Kit would make," commented Preuss, the artist, riding alongside Fremont.

"As fine a figure of a man on horseback," answered Fremont, "as ever I have looked upon."

But there was a frown on his high forehead.

Fremont could not regret his choice of scouts. Admirable as Kit, honest as kingdom come, but there were matters difficult for a southern gentleman to ignore. The ordeal of mess time, for instance. Kit tried to use knife and fork, but his fingers were strange to them. And on the other hand, Kit was plainly rather contemptuous of Fremont's dependency upon such utensils.

"He has lived overly long with Indians," thought Fremont, in an attempt at understanding.

He tried to think how splendid Kit was in other ways. How patient he had been with the green members of the expedition, teaching them to form a circle each night of the covered wagons and drive horses and mules within for safety. How he had taught the young boys to shoot and enchanted them with his western stories and mountain wisdom. Kit ordered camp each day before sundown, so that by night the four cooking fires would be out, not to attract roving Pawnees. Kit selected camp sites and set guards. He showed them how to sleep on saddles that served both as pillows and protection against possible arrows, and how, sleeping, to grip with arms and knees the rifle that might mean one's life. And Kit's example had reconciled them all to sleep uncomplainingly in mud puddles, the first two nights out, when they had been overtaken by storm.

These things Fremont recalled, pacing Proveau slowly over the prairie, and trying to forget Kit's antipathy to such trivia as knives and forks and toothbrushes and soap.

But Kit was racing back over the prairie.

"Buffalo!" he could be heard shouting nearly a mile away.

The Fremont men, halting, heard in the distance a rumbling sound like thunder. The ground was shaking. Miles ahead they saw a cloud of dust spread over the horizon.

Here was excitement! The boys Henry and Randolph were no wider than the older men. Under that cloud of dust ran adventure—danger—the sport of kings.

Kit reached them. He dashed to the "cavvy" and selected from the herd a horse trained for buffalo hunting. Throwing on it his Spanish silver bridle, (and without waiting to change saddles, he was off shouting for the others to follow.

"Look to your cinches and girths," he shouted, for if a man's saddle slipped in a buffalo hunt he was lost.

They were all off after Kit who rode low on his saddleless horse with his long rifle ready across his mane. Then out of the very plain it seemed, grew darkness. Ahead, as far as eye could see, the plain was dark with buffalo, a black and rhythmic sea, the waves of which were horned!

"There's twenty thousand head in that herd," yelled Kit, racing to the lead of that advancing tide.

There was no stopping that living ocean. Alone, the American bison was a grotesque and ferocious brute, but seen many thousands fold it attained a terrifying majesty. In advance of the herd great horns rode on immense bearded heads. Here and there in the tossing sea of horns spurts of dust showed where a fight was waging between bulls.

Fremont was racing alongside Kit. Maxwell joined them, riding like an Indian. Fremont shouted at Carson:

"Doesn't your heart beat wildly?"

"Aye, like a war drum!" shouted Kit, but his face was a mask.

He rounded the rushing herd. At a vulnerable place he cut in with his horse between long horns that lifted and clashed and clattered. Horns like sabres thrust around Kit, hemming him in. He gripped the horse with his knees. He shouted the Indian cry:

"Hul! Hul!"

The high shrilling bewildered the buffalo. The charging horns lowered. A section of herd fell back before his cry and fled. The other men, watching breathlessly, saw Kit ride safely out of that tremendous herd that stretched as far as they could see, driving ahead of him fifty buffalo.

"Charge them!" yelled Kit.

The Fremont men picked out their animals through rolling clouds of dust. Kit was first to fire. Gripping his horse with his knees he lifted the long rifle. The shot went unheard in the fury of thousands of stampeding hoofs striking hard soil and thousands of horns clashing and great throats trumpeting the fury of angry beasts.

But a buffalo cow stumbled to her knees.

The sentinel buffalos galloped up and down trying to turn the herd. They pawed, with small legs stiff. Bearded heads charged ferociously that living wall. The tide would not be stemmed.

But the herd veered from the wagon train advancing slowly over the prairie. Kit noted this gratefully before charging into the herd again to drive out more buffalo. He had a plainsman fear of stampeding. Buffalo could destroy their wagons and drive off their horses and mules.

Kit selected a place between two charging bull sentinels. Neatly as a matador he slipped his trained horse between and again gave the Indian cry.

Again he was swept into a tossing set of forms. Only the piercing cry was his defense. But he had known such excitement since as a lad of twelve he had hunted buffalo with the Sioux Indians. Through choking dust he watched for loopholes, guiding his horse with his knees.

The herd raced him along like a hurricane. There was only one thing to fear—and that he had no means of watching. If under this racing herd a prairie dog village should be hidden, with gaping holes to catch at a horse's hoofs, then Kit would be in danger!

How small, that chance, on the vast prairie he was racing over now in this thundering ocean!

The chance overtook Kit.

Somewhere under that living sea a prairie dog had his home. The hoof of Kit's horse caught in that earth doorway, throwing the horse and Kit to the earth.

Fremont, watching in horror, saw Kit Carson swept under the storming tide of buffalo, under horns like sabres, under hoofs like knives.

Kit lay very still. Over him, passed him, stormed the buffalo herd. He stared up into bearded bull-like faces, to small stiff legs set with knife-like hooves.

They did not touch him. Because he lay so still, avoiding only the plunges of his horse that struggled to rise. His horse was his shield against twenty thousand maddened buffalo. Fremont, who through the rolling dust had seen his scout go down, offered up a quick prayer. Outside that storming set the Fremont men stood transfixed with horror. Maxwell lifted his rifle.

"I'm going to shoot Kit's horse," Maxwell yelled. "At least we may save his silver bridle."

At that moment they saw Kit spring to his feet as the horse regained its balance, hanging to its mane despite the jostling buffalo, leaping to its back, clinging there.

A cheer rose from twenty white throats such as never had been heard on the plains.

"Thank the Lord I didn't shoot the horse," thought Maxwell.

Kit dashed out between clattering horns.

"Charge!" he shouted to the transfixed men as if nothing had happened.

He was off after a bull running stiff tailed from the herd. With a whoop of delight he fired from his running horse and brought it down.

The herd was fleeing now against the wind. The Fremont men chased the buffalo a few miles whooping like Indians and Fremont added a young bull to the kill. The bull leaders swept to the rear to fight the hunters. At times they charged together in an attempt to destroy horses and riders.

That night, the explorers feasted. Forgetful of Pawnee and danger they sat long over the fires, each man broiling on a stick his favorite tid bit, liver or steak or tongue, or the "hump fat" loved by mountain men. And Kit, relaxing, told of the prairie dog dug out that had nearly sent him to death.

"Nothing cuter than a prairie dog," he added, generously. "Poor little fellow. A prairie dog is never alone in his house. He has a rattlesnake and a little owl board-ing with him."

And Kit told them of hunting buffalo with Sioux and Apaches who struck dexterously with their long lances at the vulnerable place behind the buffalo's shoulder. He told of having seen buffalo as far west as Green river in Wyoming but that none were as far west as Oregon. He had seen one herd of two hundred thousand buffalo.

But he said nothing of his own courage in rising like a man from the dead out of that buffalo stampede. Fremont, listening, was baffled by the honesty and modesty of Kit Carson. That night Fremont wrote in his diary: "Indians and buffalo make up the poetry and life of the prairie."

Fremont was recording every bit of their journey, knowing he was making a historical memorandum of an unknown world. He noted brush and flowers, rivers and plains. He sketched and surveyed, classified, even named them. He noted, as they marched on after the buffalo hunt, that for many miles there was not a blade of grass. The

HOPE TO AVOID CONTROVERSIES

Congressional Leaders Speed Up Legislative Machinery

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 3.—Congressional leaders began to speed up the legislative machinery today in an apparent desire to sidestep controversies and hasten adjournment.

As the session began its fourth month, they noted that the senate and house have disposed of only five major bills—those authorizing government reorganization and army expansion and approving funds for the WPA, independent federal agencies, and for deficiency needs of various departments.

Fishes 45 Measures

Altogether congress has finished action on 45 measures out of 7,857—most of them minor ones—introduced in both chambers.

As a result, leaders expressed determination to drop secondary proposals and stick largely to the program outlined last week by Senator Barkley (D-Ky). He estimated that at least two and a half more months would be required.

The rush for adjournment was said to result from several causes, among them the fact that the New Deal legislative program was virtually completed last session; the increasing pressure of political considerations as 1940 approaches, and the factional differences among Democrats.

Despite the often-voiced demands for economy in congress, the President has obtained so far just about what he asked on appropriations except in regard to WPA funds. The house has cut $50,000,000 from his request for an additional $150,000,000. The senate probably will act this week and it will be a hard fight whichever side wins.

Washing Machine Factory Destroyed

SIDNEY, April 3.—Officials of the Prima Manufacturing Corp., here sought today the cause of a fire which destroyed the firm's washing machine factory and warehouse last night with a loss set at $400,000 by Manager W. R. Dunlop.

The blaze, discovered about 6:30 p. m. and brought under control some three hours later, left 65 employees without their regular jobs just as the concern's busy season was getting under way.

Firemen saved four nearby dwellings but flames raced through the two-story brick factory and two-story frame warehouse before they could be checked.

Body Recovered

COLUMBUS, April 3.—The body of Mrs. James Montgomery, 33, missing since March 9, was recovered from the Scioto river yesterday. Detective Ed Lowe said circumstances pointed to suicide.

Priest Persuades Bandit to Give Up

NEW YORK, April 3.—A Catholic priest, called from his Palm Sunday services yesterday, talked for an hour with a bandit trapped in an elderly couple's apartment and finally persuaded him to surrender quietly.

The gunman, a 23-year-old convict named Joseph Naumo, with two other men had held up a second-floor restaurant.

Pursued by police, Naumo ran into an apartment house and dashed to the sixth-floor flat of Merton Nicholas, 63, an executive of the Methodist Book Concern.

Police with machine guns and tear gas bombs swarmed up the fire escape. One officer broke a window.

The bandit threw Nicholas into a chair, used him as a shield, holding police at bay for an hour.

After much conversation and dickering, he said he'd talk to a priest.

The Rev. Francis X. Quinn was called from his Church of the Guardian Angel nearby. He persuaded Naumo to come out.

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR GRADUATES

Chemists Especially In Demand, Ohio Survey Reveals

uncertainty in the engineering field. Teachers with specialized training were in demand. Miss Martha Hopkins, Marietta college personnel director, said "there is a definite shortage of good teachers." The Ohio State university College of Education predicted that 73 per cent of its graduates would find employment.

Dr. Mary C. Schauffler of Western Reserve university declared women graduates in nursing were as much in demand as chemists. Chemists and metallurgical engineers were most in demand at the University of Cincinnati where 100 per cent placement was predicted for June graduates as compared to 95 per cent last year.

J. J. Moore, employment director at the Case School of Applied Science in Cleveland reported that more than 30 of its June graduates already have jobs waiting and that 20 others have received offers.

Moore said there was an increasing demand for men in concerns producing machinery. Other inquiries have come from the petroleum, machine tool, rubber and electrical industries.

Few Aircraft Openings

Contrary to expectations, he added, there are few openings in the aircraft industry. Few will be placed in the steel industry because of a slump in operations.

Personnel Director Donald Parks of the University of Toledo reported greatest difficulty in placing graduates in the liberal arts college because of the lack of specialists. He said graduates would find jobs plentiful in mail order houses and the insurance business.

Youngstown college predicted men secretaries would have little difficulty in securing positions. Wilmington college reported teachers and graduates with highly specialized training most in demand.

Commercial school graduates and chemists faced the brightest prospects at Heidelberg and Akron universities.

Bowling Green university reported a growing demand for physical education teachers who also are qualified to teach music, languages or industrial arts.

Penalized

LWOW, Poland, April 3.—There is such a thing as being too rough in soccer as it is played in Poland.

One player who kicked an opponent's leg and inflicted a bone fracture found himself in court a few days later.

The judge ruled that if he had been animated only by good will he wouldn't have missed the ball—and sentenced him to six months in jail.

Bargains are plentiful. The ads. will tell you where.

Theatre Attractions

Dorothy Lamour has the leading role in "St. Louis Blues," a story satirizing a portion of the star's own career, which will be shown at the State theater Tuesday and Wednesday.

The picture combines good music and excellent acting to form a witty, colorful and highly original production.

Since "St. Louis Blues" is a story of life aboard a Mississippi showboat of 1939 vintage—with very little of the "ole man ribber" touch about it—it has a setting well suited to high-geared romance, vital characters and credible situations.

Rebels Against Sarong

Miss Lamour, the central figure in the drama, portrays a theatrical celebrity who rebels against her manager's dictum that she never appear in public except in a sarong. When the manager, a picturesque character played by Jerome Cowan, remains adamant, Miss Lamour throws up the sponge—or rather the sarong—and runs away from him during a tour of the middle west.

When the desperate celebrity takes refuge aboard a down-at-the-heels showboat, the romance of "St. Louis Blues" gets into full swing. The owner of the barge, Lloyd Nolan, gives the girl a singing job, believing her to be just a poor kid out of work. Her singing and beauty make her the sensation of the Mississippi region, and the reluctant Nolan gradually becomes her most ardent admirer.

Fate Pursues Her

But the fates pursue Miss Lamour on all sides. Suddenly inspired, Nolan decides that she will be a wonder disguised as a South Sea native. So back into the hated sarong she goes for a couple of scenes! Hearing about the new tropical sensation, her erstwhile manager comes to investigate, well-armed with the club of a long-term contract.

"St. Louis Blues" gives Miss Lamour the best supporting cast of her career. Tito Guizar, Latin America's favorite star, returns to the screen for the first time since "Tropic Holiday," replete with guitar and famous smile. He plays a Mississippi planter in love with one of the showboat lovelies, Mary "Punkins" Parker.

A sure-fire attraction for swing fans and jitterbugs from coast to coast is offered in the person of Maxine Sullivan, the "Harlem Lorelei" who originated the vogue for swinging the classics. In "St. Louis Blues" she renders "Loch Lomond" and the Russian "Dark Eyes" in the Sullivan manner.

Concluding at the State theater tonight is "The Oklahoma Kid," starring James Cagney, with Rosemary Lane and Humphrey Bogart.

Salona Supply Company Displays Latest In Farm Machinery

Below—This section of W. Pershing st., near the Salona Supply Co. offices, was a busy spot on the occasion of the recent machinery display which attracted hundreds of agriculturists and others from the Salem district.

The Salona Supply company recently entertained between 500 and 600 farmers, and others interested in farming, at their spring showing of McCormick-Deering farm machinery and equipment at its plant on W. Pershing st.

Much favorable comment has been received on the manner in which the Salona management handled the program for the day. Many features held the attention of the visitors throughout the day and among them was much in the way of entertainment, including the Salona Supply Co. five-piece string orchestra.

Watching and listening to the talking pictures of new machinery, operating under all possible conditions, handling every type of crop, the visitors found a great amount of educational value.

This type of demonstration is not only convincing to prospective buyers but, too, it helps the farmer make a choice of equipment best suited to his particular needs.

The Salona Supply Co. is a truly growing organization. Each season new lines are added, until today there are very few types of machinery, farm hardware, household appliances and specialized farming lines such as poultrymen's, orchardists' or dairymen's needs, which are not carried in stock at all times.

Seeds, fertilizer, spray materials and kindred items; seed cleaning, grinding, mixing and builders' hardware; tile, gravel, brick, sand, lime, cement—almost anything in these lines are available.

Master Mix concentrates and feeds, as well as similar items in other lines, are featured.

Ohioans In Washington

Highlights On Legislative Activities

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 3.—Representative Secombe (R., Ohio) today undertook a campaign to make all works progress administration pay levels for unskilled labor the same throughout the state.

Secombe said the basic pay scale ranges from $40 to $60 in various counties of the state, with the state WPA administrator authorized to raise or lower this by 10 per cent.

In his own district, he said, Stark county WPA workers receive $60 a month for unskilled work, while in Tuscarawas and Wayne the scale is $48.40 and in Holmes $44.

"I contend the living costs in the counties with the lower scale are as high as anywhere else," he said.

In the village of Minerva, for example, he said a WPA worker living on one side of the street drew $60, while one on the other side in an adjoining county got the lower pay.

Many merchants in Tuscarawas and Holmes counties had protested the differential, he continued.

He said he would seek an early interview with Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA administrator, and if he received no consideration, would attempt to bring about the equalization by legislation.

Bender and Sweeney Tangle. Representatives Bender (R., Ohio), Republican county chairman in Cuyahoga county (Cleveland), and Sweeney, a Democrat from the same city, tangled over relief during the debate on President Roosevelt's request for an additional $150,000,000 for the WPA for the rest of the fiscal year. The house approved $17,000,000.

Bender, arguing for the smaller sum, said many postcards sent him favoring the $150,000,000 did not bear the addresses of the persons who sent them. He learned this, he said, when his answers were returned "undeliverable."

"I object to and protest against either the President or the administration using the poor people of this country as a political football," Bender said.

"If all the monkey business were taken out of WPA, if all the hokum were taken out of it, and if the poor people for whom the money is earmarked would really get the money, we would not have a request for $150,000,000 now."

Sweeney supported the larger amount and asserted the appropriations committee had a "change of heart" since it slashed the President's original $375,000,000 request by $150,000,000.

Approves Investigation

He said, however, that he agreed with Bender the WPA should be investigated and could cite instances in Cleveland "where there are known Communists on the WPA rolls." He said he also could show that "scores and scores of married women" in Cleveland were drawing good WPA salaries while their husbands were making substantial incomes in private industry.

"Our Republican friends talk a lot about the Democrats playing politics with the WPA," the Cleveland Democrat continued. "I cannot speak for the rest of the country, but I say emphatically without fear of contradiction that the entire machinery of the WPA in Ohio is run by Republicans. The Republican mayor of the City of Cleveland, through his agents, utilized the relief stations to certify applicants for WPA work, and many passed who had money in the bank and income from property. Every Republican politician in Cleveland, who means anything to the political machine, somehow manages to find a job on the WPA."

When he asked if Bender had not obtained almost 7,500 jobs, his fellow Clevelanders replied, "Yes."

Later, Bender denied that the administration of the WPA in Cleveland was in the hands of the Republicans, asserting that a newspaper survey showed that over 90 per cent of the people in charge of WPA were registered Democrats and active members of the party.

Still Claims Record

Although Senator Donahay's name appears on bills offered in the senate, he still claims his record of never having introduced a measure of his own.

He explained that he was willing to introduce legislation at the request of others, but had not personally offered any.

His measures submitted by request so far include one to print 25,000 more copies of the report of the joint committee, headed by himself, which investigated the Tennessee Valley authority; to appropriate $200,000 for the purchase of land at Perry Memorial, Ohio, and place it under the interior department, and to rehabilitate persons in instances where the TVA development affected farms along rivers.

Concerning Telephones

Representative Clevenger (R., Ohio) joined Representative Hawks (R., Wis.) in an attack on the wage-hour law as it affects rural telephone companies.

When Hawks cited information from the Wisconsin State Telephone association that enforcement of the wage-hour law would cause small telephone companies to cease business, Clevenger asserted that he could produce 15 letters telling of similar conditions in his district.

EQUIPMENT BY CRANE ADVISED

J. R. Stratton Points Out This Fine Product Not High Priced

J. R. Stratton, owner of The Stratton Plumbing Co. on Broadway, believes your entire home should be Crane-equipped. Whether the home be a simple cottage or an elaborate mansion, it is deserving of the best in equipment. Tastes vary—a bath suitable for one home is totally out of keeping in another, but regardless of the amount to be spent, it should be spent wisely with a full regard for the long life and service which every home owner has a right to expect from his equipment.

The name "Crane" has stood for quality in materials and workmanship since the founding of the company 83 years ago. So synonymous have been the two, Crane and Quality, that many people have jumped to the erroneous conclusion that Crane fixtures must be high priced. As a matter of fact, you pay no more for Crane Quality than for much plumbing and heating equipment similar in general appearance but of greatly inferior value. Often Crane fixtures cost less to install.

Exact manufacture and precise engineering actually facilitate installation. Crane fittings and fixtures wear longer, hence, are most economical in service.

Crane bathroom fixtures either vitreous china or porcelain enamel may be had in eight beautiful colors and white—Orchid pink, India ivory, citrus yellow, sun tan, pale jade, Lucerne blue, Persian red and black.

For the satisfaction of having the best, the most complete, convenient and modern home one could desire, Crane-Equip throughout with Crane baths, lavatories, showers, kitchen sinks, laundry tubs, a Crane boiler, valves, radiators, convectors, even Crane pipe fittings. Specify Crane, and be sure of enduring quality and an investment in long, satisfactory service.

PARIS CLEANERS IT'S TIME NOW URGE CHECKUP TO CLEAN WATCH

Still Time to Have Those Garments Refreshed For Easter

The Paris Cleaners today advised a final checkup on wardrobe requirements for the Easter season, with Easter Sunday only a week away.

There is still plenty of time to have that special frock or a suit appropriately to the occasion, carefully and skilfully cleaned, renewed and refreshed.

The Paris Cleaners do not "rush" work to the extent that important details in the cleaning process are eliminated. But modern machinery and methods and experienced workmen with the advantage of years of training behind them enable them to give customers throughout the Salem district up-to-the-minute service and this, of course, will be emphasized this week particularly.

The Paris Cleaners do more than merely clean. When you get your garment back, you may be sure that it measures up in every respect, with the added quality of freshness.

BOWLING CHAMPIONS FALL SHORT OF 3,000 GOAL

CLEVELAND PIN STARS TURN IN COUNT OF 2,865

Samson Ales Nose Out Salem Team In Special Match Saturday

The determined bid of the strong Samson Ales of Cleveland, state bowling champions, to hit 3,000 or more pins at the Grate Recreation alleys fell short Saturday night as the Sixth City team turned in a count of 2,865.

Although the Cleveland keggers failed to reach the 3,000 mark, a fact no team has ever performed on local alleys, their score was good enough to enable them to nose out a team of Grate Recreation bowlers by 41 pins. The score of the match was 2,865 to 2,824.

Above Average
The Salem team performed well above its 885 average in attempting to pace the Samson five to a 3,000 count, but the state champions were unable to take advantage of the Grate team's fine pace-setting performance. In fact, the Cleveland keggers had a tough time defeating the Salem quintet.

The Samson pinmen, who boast a general team average of 1,005, fell behind in the first game when they totaled 961 to the Salem five's 975. The Cleveland keggers moved out in front in the second game, hitting 1,431 to the locals' 897, and continued to hold a small edge in the final game by totaling 961 to the Grate team's 942.

Both teams had 20 open frames in the three games. Thirteen blows were chalked up against the Samson five. The remainder of the Cleveland team's open frames came on seven splits. The Grate quintet had 11 open frames due to splits and nine by blows.

Renkel Leads
Bill Renkel, anchor man for the Ales, was the only one of the 10 bowlers participating in the match who was able to hit over 600 for the series. Renkel totaled 611 on games of 189, 220 and 202.

Harry Calladine was high for the Salem team with 599. Calladine started off with a neat 234 game, dropped to 157 in the second heat, and finished with 208.

The loss suffered by the Salem men's team was partially avenged by the Glidden Paint ladies of Salem, who defeated the Samson Ale ladies, 2,393 to 2,210.

Mrs. Ruth Hine and Miss Olive Ramsey led the Salem ladies to the victory. Mrs. Hine totaling 513 on games of 157, 195 and 161 and Miss Ramsey hitting 531 on games of 189, 164 and 158.

GULDAHL RULES GOLFING WORLD

Adds the Augusta National Title To His Collection

BY GAYLE TALBOT
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 3.—Every time he steps up to the tee these days Ralph Guldahl leaves a little less doubt that he is the super-golfer of today.

The double-Open champion now has added the Augusta National title to his collection, after finishing second the two previous years, and the 279 he shot at the boys this time left them gasping.

Though he sat around in Florida most of the winter getting fat while his fellow professionals were battling around the country week after week, Guldahl already has won $4,147 counting yesterday's $1,500. He has won three of his last four tournaments.

Calls His Shots

What's even more remarkable about the great, strapping fellow is that he calls his shots. He announced before the "Masters" tournament that he would win it, so nobody was much surprised when he shot his clinching 69 last yesterday afternoon to nose out Sammy Snead. His successive rounds were 72-68-70-69, and his total beat by three strokes, the tournament record, set in 1935. Snead had 280.

A gallery of close to 10,000 followed Guldahl and Lawson Little on the final round. Little, who was exactly level with Guldahl in total strokes at the turn, delivered a fine 70 to wind up in a tie with Billie Burke of Cleveland for third money, each with 282.

MAJOR LEAGUE CLUBS COMPILE GOOD AVERAGES

Indians, Phils, Bees, Are The Only Teams With Low Percentages

BY JUDSON RALEY

NEW YORK, April 3.—The major league baseball teams are squeezing out some juicy percentages in their grapefruit stand series starting the homeward shuffle against an assortment of minor league stogees.

The froth is so thick, in fact, that only three of the 16 fugitives from the big top have failed to win half or more of their games. This makes it possible for followers of all except the Cleveland Indians, Philadelphia Phils and Boston Bees to point with pride to the startling strides of their heroes.

The New York Giants, who played just three games and won them all during the week, replaced the St. Louis Browns at the top of the southern standings with a record of 10 games won and two lost, but the best mark for the full schedule was the six games won and one lost by the St. Louis Cardinals.

Yankees Rally
These won and lost records aren't likely to rate any closer inspection than the batting averages during this period, however. The New York Yankees, who a few days ago were being joshed about their world championship in showing a mere 500 average in eight games now rank third in the citrus standing with 14 victories against six defeats. Yet their performance against major league opponents is still only seven wins and six losses for a .538 figure.

Such scores as the Cardinals' 22-0 shutout of Columbus, Ga., yesterday, the Boston Red Sox trampling of Louisville, 24-2, the Yankees' stampede of Tallahassee, 22-3, and at infinitum have subjected the minor league entertainment to scorn. But some of the series between the major leaguers themselves have been anything but serious.

During the week, the incomparable Phillies, who incidentally scrambled out of the grapefruit cellar, outpunched the Browns twice by counts of 14-13 and 13-12, only to be beaten on another occasion 18-13. The Chicago Cubs beat the White Sox, 19-10, after losing one by a mere 10-8 margin.

RAMBLERS NEED THEIR PLAYERS
Drop First Series Game To Cleveland, 2 to 1, Saturday

Unless some of the Philadelphia players whom the New York Rangers "borrowed" for the National League playoffs can return and be helpful, the Philadelphia Ramblers already are in a tough spot in their final International-American hockey league playoff series against Cleveland's Barons.

The Ramblers, who spread-eagled the whole eastern division during the regular season, then conquered the Hershey Bears in the playoff between the sectional leaders, dropped the first game to Cleveland, 2-1, Saturday night.

The Finalists meet again at Philadelphia tomorrow in the second of the best-of-five series, then move to Cleveland for the next two games.

Training Camp Briefs

TUCSON, Ariz., April 3.—Squaring off for another chapter in their Chicago city series, the Cubs and White Sox matched Bill Lee and Bill Dietrich on the mound today. Manager Jimmy Dykes took occasion to warn certain unnamed players, "I go along with these fellows as far as any manager in the game," he growled. "That's why it burns me up when a few of them take advantage of the lenient rules. There are four in particular I'm checking on."

Bonura's Successor
CLEARWATER, Fla.—In stocky Bobby Estelle the Washington Senators believe they have found the right-handed batting punch they lost in selling Zeke Bonura to the New York Giants. Although the shortest man on the squad, the stocky Cuban hits the longest ball.

Fitcher Shuffling
LAKELAND, Fla.—Manager Del Baker has shuffled his pitchers so diligently in the 13 games the Detroit Tigers have played that not one has credit for either winning or losing more than one game. Four pitchers, including Schooiyboy Rowe, have won once without losing. Rowe also is leading the club in batting, but has made just six trips to the plate. He got three hits.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Scooping: The gossips have it that Mike Jacobs and Jimmy Johnston are patching up their differences and that Johnston soon will become a full-fledged exec of the Twentieth Century Sporting Club. . . . Clipper Smith didn't know he was way out at Duquesne until the college brass hats had his assistant, Aldo Donelli, signed, sealed and moved upstairs. . . . Kayo Lumby, who was a guard at Arkansas, will be the new center of the football Giants when Mel Hein decides he's had enough. . . . Flash! Eric Tip-ton, Duke football star, has tipped up his baseball mind and will report to the Yankees right after graduation.

Rue de soccerue: At the Pastor-Strickland fight in Chicago the other night, the promoter lost his shirt and Pastor his pants. . . . Joe Jacobs is feuding with the sports writers who panned the Galento stage show. . . . As a reward for his game stand against Armstrong, Davey Day will get a match with Pedro Montanez here in June.

Wrestle To Reduce
Personals: Sammy Snead and Johnny Bulla, the golfers, have taken up wrestling for relaxation. The Cardinals call Bob Bowman the lucky number pitcher because he won 11 and lost 7 at Rochester last season. . . . The middle name of George Abrams, the Washington middleweight, is "Freedom" because he was born just a few minutes after the armistice was signed.

Sports cocktail: Bobby Jones says Henry Picard has the most beautiful stroke he ever saw. Those who've seen him warming up in Florida think John Doe, former national tennis champ, is due for a real comeback this summer. Texas Christian had such a disastrous basketball season, Coach Mike Brumlow has ordered spring practice for the first time in the history of the school.

U.S. SHOULD WIN SWIM TITLE IN 1940 OLYMPICS

America Has Nothing To Worry About, State Coach Says

By FRITZ HOWELL.
COLUMBUS, April 3.—Michael (Mike) Peppe of Ohio State University, the only coach in history to tutor a college squad to the national A. A. U. swimming championship, predicted today that the U. S. A. had nothing to worry about in the aquatic division of the 1940 Olympic games in Finland.

Peppe, who piloted his Bucks to their second straight national amateur title Saturday, said the new talent placed on display in that event would more than offset the loss of veterans who splashed America to victory in 1936 at Berlin.

Rely on Divers
"Each division of the American team should be as strong or stronger than it was in Berlin," Peppe said, "but probably we'll have to rely on the divers once more to clinch the victory."

And with that remark Peppe placed the mantle of greatness about the shoulders of his star of the one and three-meter boards, Al Patrik, who snatched both crowns in the 1939 meet for the third straight year—an unparalleled feat.

"Patrik is undoubtedly the greatest springboard diver that ever lived," Peppe said. "He has everything, and just doesn't make mistakes. He and Earl Clark of Ohio State, and Jim Cooke of Yale, look like the boys who should represent America in diving."

Peppe clasped the field that participated in the 1939 A. A. U. meet as the greatest ever, and predicted that practically the entire Olympic team would be picked from that group.

For the freestyle sprints he said the outstanding candidates were Peter Pick of the New York A. C.; Howard Johnson, Yale's fine freshman; Otto Jaretz, Gus Sharnett of Michigan; Bill Quayle of Ohio State; Ed Kinar of Chicago's Medical Club; and Waldemar Tomski of Michigan.

Newcomer Threatens
A newcomer, Bernard Hayes, sophomore at Fremont Ross High school, is a definite threat for the backstroke berth along with Johnny Higgins of Ohio State and Dick Hough of Princeton.

The same trio that performed in the 1938 backstroke, Adolph Kiefer of the Chicago Medisub club, Taylor Drysdale of the Detroit A. C., and Albert Vande Weghe of Princeton, were expected to make successful bids again, with Francis Heydt, who recently transferred from Iowa to Michigan, an outstanding possibility.

Ohio State won the 1939 A. A. U. team title with 28 points, the New York A. C. finishing second with 23. The Bucks scored in nine of the 10 events, but won only two first places—Patrik turning those in at the diving competitions, in which Ohio garnered 15 of its 28 points.

The 1939 champs: 150-yard backstroke, Adolph Kiefer, Chicago Medisub club, 1:33.2; 100-yard freestyle, Peter Pick, New York A. C., 5:23.1; one-meter fancy diving, Al Patrik, Ohio State; 300-yard individual medley, Andy Clark, Detroit A. C.; 220-yard freestyle, Jack Medina, New York A. C., 2:12.7; 200-yard breast stroke, R. R. Hough, Princeton, 2:39.5; 400-yard freestyle relay, New York A. C. (McDermott, Relly, Spence, Pick), 3:31.3, (new record); 100-yard freestyle, Ralph Flanagan, Austin, Tex., 5:30.7; three-meter board fancy diving, Al Patrik, Ohio State; 300-yard medley relay, Princeton university (Hough, and Weghe and Van Oss), 2:52.5.

Sixto Escobar Wins In Home Town Fight
SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, April 3.—Any way you look at it, the old home town is a good place for Sixto Escobar to fight.

The little Puerto Rican made another successful defense of his world bantamweight championship here last night when he decisively defeated K. O. Morgan, his conqueror in a previous non-title bout. It was the fourth time Escobar had fought before the home folks since he first captured the title and it was his fourth victory here.

Annual Banquet Will Be Held at Moose Hall On State St.

The recently remodeled Moose hall on East State st. has been selected as the site for the annual banquet of the Salem Bowling association, scheduled for Tuesday night, April 11.

NO CHANGE IN FIRST PLACES IN ABC EVENT

Pennsylvania Bowler In Second Place In All-Events With 1932

CLEVELAND, April 3.—There was no change today among first place holders in the American Bowling Congress tournament, none of whom was seriously threatened by Sunday's keggers.

Fred Sussick of Upper Darby, Pa., rolled into second place in all events with a total of 1,993 pins, 39 behind the leader, William Beiser, Jr., of Watertown, Wis.

Sussick, 40-year-old machinist, and one of the east's recognized better bowlers, smacked the pins for 618 in the team event, 642 in doubles and 672 in singles.

STRIVE TO KEEP SCHOOL OF AIR

Legislators Seek Funds to Continue Education Program

COLUMBUS, April 3.—A drive for sufficient state funds to prevent abandonment of Ohio's school of the air gathered momentum today as legislators returned from their week-end recess.

Gov. John W. Bricker's biennial budget message allocated $7-500 to the school and Supervisor Gordon C. Humbert said it would be forced into silence July 1 unless more money was forthcoming. The school's annual expenses are about $20,000.

Urges Study of Project

E. N. Dietrich, state education director said he would urge Governor Bricker to reconsider the cut, and the legislature was expected to take up this week a resolution Rep. Floyd Mees (R-Meigs) calling for selection of a three-member committee to study the advisability of increasing the school's appropriation.

Most important piece of legislation slated to come before the legislature this week was the biennial appropriation bill totaling $302,000-000, exclusive of the state share of poor relief.

Is introduction in the house,
probably tomorrow, will be followed by two or three weeks of finance committee hearings prior to passage. The senate finance committee plans a simultaneous study to be prepared to expedite passage of the bill.

The senate military affairs committee meets tonight prior to hearings opening tomorrow on a resolution seeking an inquiry into alleged un-American activities in state universities and public schools.

May Vote On Third Member

The week may bring a vote on a measure to add a third member to the present state civil service commission. The bill has been recommended for passage by a house committee.

Two senate-approved bills are before house committees. One proposes reorganization of the tax commission and the other revamping of the parole board.

Awaiting vote in the senate is a house-approved proposal to abolish the "life tenure" of the adjutant general assistant adjutant general and assistant quartermaster general.

Members of a special committee drafting a relief program are making time in considering Governor
Bricker's recommendation of $9-250,000 a year, pending completion of the appropriation bill. Officials of the large cities have branded the figure inadequate.

Mees, terming education by radio
"worthwhile," said the committee proposed in his resolution would be asked to confer with the budget committee and officials of Ohio State university, under whose supervision the school of the air has operated since its resumption last July, after being silent for three years.

Several teacher organizations were reported, meanwhile, preparing to fight for retention of the school, which broadcasts programs to an estimated 250,000 pupils in schools throughout Ohio.

30,000 IN OHIO MINES ARE IDLE

Seventy Per Cent of Na- tion's Soft Coal Indus- try Closed Down

West Virginia, Ohio, eastern Kentucky, western Virginia, central Tennessee and some mines in Maryland and Michigan.

Work continued under temporary agreements in other soft coal fields except in Alabama, where an additional 20,000 miners faced idleness because of a deadlock over a new contract.

The shutdown was expected to have little immediate effect on industry, since a surplus two-month supply of coal is above ground.

The negotiating committee, headed by John L. Lewis for the miners and Charles O'Neill for the operators, appeared split over the union's demand for a closed shop or elimination of the present penalty clause.

The penalty clause fines either union or operating company from $1 to $2 a day for each man involved in any suspension of work in violation of the contractual terms. The fines go to charity.

BENES SPEAKS IN CLEVELAND

Ex-Czech ruler, Mayor La Guardia, See Rebirth Of Nation

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, April 3.—Czecho-Slovakians of Cleveland estimated by Mayor Harold H. Burton to number 100,000, were encouraged today by a prediction of rebirth for their homeland, which has been taken under the protectorate of Adolf Hitler.

The prediction of re-establishment of the nation was concurred in by Dr. Eduard Benes, second president of Czechoslovakia, and Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York City, who yesterday addressed an audience here of nearly 9,000 persons, most of them of Czech or Slovak origin.

Sees Free Europe

"The victory will come," declared
Dr. Benes. "It will be the victory of a free Europe."

"Czechoslovakia has not been captured, it has not been destroyed, it has been kidnapped," asserted Mayor La Guardia. "When the kidnaper talks about protectorates, he talks the language of the kidnaper who protects the child until the ransom is paid, or the child is murdered."

Dr. Benes said "the world is beginning to see an end must be put to such moral and social disintegration as we see now in certain states in Europe, or our civilization will perish."

La Guardia explained he wished to use "language Berlin can understand," when he declared, "crime cannot live surrounded by respectability."

Aid to Democracy

"We can prevent war by letting the world know the American people reserve the right to put the finger on the aggressor nations," he said, "and by giving aid to nations that are defending democracy. I say, let's sell planes to England and France at a discount!"

Dr. Benes withheld an expected announcement outlining plans for maintaining remnants of Czecho-Slovakia in nations outside that territory.

An associate said the plan might encompass virtually a provisional government with headquarters in one of the embassies refused to German emissaries, and that Dr.
Benes was awaiting removal of certain impediments before announcing the plan.
